INTRODUCTION.

The present work is not a mere abridgement of my larger Etymological Dictionary, such as might have been compiled by a diligent book-maker, but has been entirely rewritten by myself; and I have found that the experience gained by writing the larger work has been of considerable assistance to me in making occasional slight improvements. My object has been to produce a convenient hand-book for the use of that increasing number of students who wish to learn the history of the English language, and who naturally desire to have Anglo-Saxon and Icelandic forms presented to them rightly spelt and accentuated, a point which seldom receives sufficient attention.

One distinguishing feature of this abridgement, as well as of my larger Dictionary, is that all the forms cited can actually be found in the usual books of reference, except when marked by an asterisk, in which case they are theoretical.

Conciseness has been attained by presenting the results in the briefest possible form; but I have, at the same time, endeavoured to guard against becoming obscure. In my opinion, the habit, frequently adopted, of citing supposed cognate words (often misspelt) without saying what their meanings are, is a very bad one, and leads to guessing and vagueness. It is, accordingly, to be understood that, when I do not give the meaning of cognate words, it is because their sense agrees with that of the English word so nearly as to prevent ambiguity. Thus under bite, which is derived from the A. S. bitan, to bite, I cite the Dutch, Icelandic, Swedish, Danish, and German forms without explanation, because they all mean precisely the same thing; but the Latin and Sanskrit forms are used with a slight difference of sense; and I accordingly give that sense.

I do not, in general, give the history of the use of the word under discussion, unless there is some special point which is necessary to be known for the sake of the etymology. For such history, accompanied by illustrative comments. references, and discussions, I must refer students to the unabridged work.

In the course of writing this abridgement, I have taken occasion to introduce several corrections, which, in the larger work, are only to be found in the Second Edition or in the Supplement.

There is one point to which I wish to draw especial attention. By the advice of a friend, I procured a copy of a Dictionary of English Etymology by the Rev. J. Oswald, written on an unusual but excellent plan. The author arranges all the derivatives of the Latin cedere under the heading of the Latin cedo, so that words such as accede, concede, recede, succeed, are all presented to the eye at a glance. The advantage of such an arrangement is obvious, and I at once determined to adopt it, merely substituting the representative English word cede for the Latin cedo, and so in other cases. At the same time, I adopted two very considerable improvements: (1) the retention of the alphabetical order for the derived words accede, concede, &c., with a cross-reference; and (2) the extension of the principle to words of English and Scandinavian origin. Mr. Oswald gives the words only under the primary form, which is a great inconvenience, seeing that this is often precisely what one does not know; and, just for want of the cross-reference, he omits the derivative ancestor altogether. At the same time I have found his book very useful, as far as relates to that part of our language which is of classical origin. With respect to words of Teutonic origin it is practically valueless; thus the only word given under W is the word wonder.

But it is precisely with respect to these Teutonic words that most light is desired. Even a school-boy would correctly make out most of the derivatives of cede (though he would very likely miss ancestor and decease), but very few even of our best scholars could correctly draw up the list of words connected with do, such as ado, deed, deem, doff, don, doom, dout, dup, indeed. This I claim to have done (and in the main correctly) for the first time; whilst I also endeavour to emphasise the fact that deem is derived from doom, and not (conversely) doom from deem, as is so often ignorantly said by those who have probably never even heard of the phonetic laws by which Anglo-Saxon

The last remark leads to a principle of the first importance in etymology, viz. that no etymologies can be trusted for a moment unless they can fairly be shewn to be consistent with the ordinary phonetic laws which regulate the various Aryan languages. It is impossible to pursue this matter further in the present brief introduction; it must suffice to lay down the one great principle which will regulate all future researches, viz. that the right understanding of the vowel-sounds lies altogether at the root of the matter.

As I frequently allude to the ordinary vowel-changes in the course of the work, I may note here those which are the most elementary and common. They ought to be learnt by heart at once.

ANGLO-SAXON. The most usual vowel-change is that produced by the occurrence of an i (which very often disappears by a subsequent contraction of the word) in the following syllable. Owing to this, we frequently find that the vowels, as arranged in row (1) below, are changed into the corresponding vowels in row (2).

$$e, y, y, y, y, &, &, &, y, y$$

Example: -fyllan, to fill, put for fullian*; from full, full.

Moreover, substantives and secondary verbs are often formed from bases seen in the past tense singular, past tense plural, or past participle of a strong verb, rather than from the infinitive mood. Thus band and bend are from the base seen in the A. S. band, pt. t. of bindan, to bind; whilst bundle is derived from that which appears in the pp. bund-en.

ICELANDIC. This language abounds in somewhat similar vowelchanges, but very few of these appear in English. But we must not pass over the frequent formation of derivatives from the past tenses (singular or plural) and the past participles of strong verbs. Thus bait, Icel. beila, lit. 'to cause to bite,' is the causal of bila, to bite; its form may be explained by the fact that the pt. t. of bita is beit.

Again, as regards the Romance languages, especially French, it must be borne in mind that they also are subject to phonetic laws. This fact is better known since these laws have been sufficiently illustrated in Mr. Kitchin's translation of Brachet's Historical French Grammar. In particular, I may note that most French substantives are derived from Latin accusatives; and that to derive bounty from bonitas (nom.), or honour from Lat. honor (nom.), is simply impossible.

It is not a little surprising that many etymological dictionaries entirely ignore these most significant, elementary, and essential facts. A notable and very worthy exception is E. Müller's Etymologisches

Wörterbuch der Englischen Sprache.

I subjoin a key to the plan of the work, and a list of abbreviations.

KEY TO THE GENERAL PLAN OF THE DICTIONARY.

§ 1. Order of Words. Words are given in their alphabetical order; but such words as are mere derivatives from others are only explained under some more primary form, the cross-reference to which is supplied. Thus Act is explained under Agent, as stated. If reference be made to Agent, it will be found that, after Agent has been explained and its root given, all allied words, such as act, agile, agitate, ambiguous, &c., follow in alphabetical order. These derived words are marked by having no capital letter, and being set a little further to the right than the rest. If the student has any difficulty in finding a word, owing to the alphabetical order being thus occasionally interrupted, let him keep his eyes on the words printed in capitals at the head of every column, which refer to primary words only.

§ 2. The words selected. The word-list contains nearly all the words of most frequent occurrence, with a few others that are remarkably prominent in literature, such as unaneled. Homonymous forms, such as bay (used in five senses), are numbered.

§ 3. Definitions. Definitions are omitted in the case of common words: but explanations of original forms are added wherever they seemed to me to be necessary.

§ 4. Language. The language to which each word belongs is distinctly marked, in every case, by means of letters within marks of parenthesis. Here the symbol - is to be read as 'derived from.' Thus Abbey is (F.-L.-Syriac); i.e. a French word derived from Latin; the Latin word being, in its turn, of Syriac origin.

The order of derivation is always upward or backward, from early to earlier forms.

The symbol + is employed to distinguish forms which are merely cognate, and are adduced merely by way of illustrating and confirming the etymology. Thus, bite is a purely English word, derived from the Anglo-Saxon bitan. The other Teutonic forms, viz. the Du. bijten, Icel. bita, Swed. bita, Dan. bide, G. beissen, and the other Aryan forms, viz. Lat. findere (base fid-) and Skt. bhid, to cleave, are merely cognate and illustrative. On this point, there commonly exists the most singular confusion of ideas; and there are many Englishmen who are accustomed to derive English, of all things, from Modern High German! I therefore introduce this symbol + by way of warning. It has its usual algebraical value of plus or additional; and indicates 'additional information to be obtained from the comparison of cognate forms.'

§ 5. Symbols of Languages. The symbols, such as F. = French, are not used in their usual vague sense, so as to baffle the enquirer who wishes to find the words referred to. Every symbol has a special sense, and has reference to certain books, in one at least of which the word cited may be found, as I have ascertained for myself by looking them all out. I have purposely used, as far as was practicable, cheap and easily accessible authorities. The exact sense of each symbol is given in the list below.

§ 6. Roots. In some cases, words are traced back to their original Aryan roots. The root is denoted by the symbol \checkmark , to be read as 'root.' Thus bear, to carry, is from & BHAR. A list of roots, with their meanings, is given in the Appendix, p. 587; and a similar list, with fuller explanations and numerous examples, in the Appendix to my larger Dictionary.

§ 7. Derivatives. The symbol Der., i.e. Derivatives, is used to introduce forms related to the primary word. Thus, under Agent, I give Act, and again, under Act, such mere derivatives as act-ion, act-ive. &c.

Some of the longer articles are marked off into sections by the use of the Greek letters β , γ . This is merely intended to make matters clearer, by separating the various statements from each other.

Notes at the end of an article are marked off by beginning with the symbol ¶. XIV, XV, XVI, mean that the word was introduced in the 14th, 15th, or 16th century, respectively. Hyphens are freely introduced to shew the etymological division of a word. Thus, under Cede, the word concede is derived from Lat. concedere; meaning that concedere can be resolved into con- and cedere. This etymological division is often very different from that usually adopted in printed books when words have to be divided; thus, capacious can only be divided, etymologically, as cap-ac-i-ous, because cap- is the rootsyllable.

Theoretical forms are marked by italics. Thus, under other, the Icel. *antharr is given as having probably preceded the known form annarr; and *anter as possibly the original form of Lat. alter.

The symbols δ and β are both written for th. In Icelandic, β has the sound of th in thin, and δ that of th in that; but the M.E. and A.S. symbols are confused. The M.E. symbol 3 commonly represents y at the beginning of a word, and gh in the middle. A.S. short and long vowels, such as α and δ , are as distinct from each other as ϵ and η , or ϵ and ω in Greek.

maid, maiden. (E.) M. E. mayde, merely short for earlier maiden, meiden. A.S. magden, a maiden; short for mageSen*, dimin. form of mageS, a maiden. Again, mage-e8 is allied to magu, a son. a kinsman, and to még, mége, a maiden (answering to later M. E. may). MageS answers to Goth. magaths, a virgin, maid, and magu, a son or kinsman, to Goth. magus, leel. möger, a boy, orig. 'a growing lad,' one increasing in strength. From Teut. base MAG, to have strength. Der. maiden-hood, also spelt maiden-head.

S. mdra, greater, cognate with Icel. meiri, Goth. maiza, a double compar. form; from Aryan MAG-YANS-RA. ¶ The notion that mo is a positive form is quite wrong; the positive forms are much, mickle, many.

Of disputed ouum and G. who are from a common base origin; some derive it from obstare, which AWI, appearing in L. auis, a bird; see does not suit the sense; Diez suggests L. Aviary. And see Egg. Der. ov-ary, Low L. ouaria, the part of the body in which eggs are formed in birds; ovi-form, egg-shaped; ovi-parous, from L. oui-parus, egg-producing (see Parent).

This is a comparative form from Aryan UPA (Skt. upa, near, on, under; Gk. υπό, L. s-ub, Goth. uf, under; E. -ove in ab-ove). Closely allied to Up. ' From the notion of what is over or excessive, we pass to that of frequency.

Overt, open, public. (F. - L.) O.F. overt (later ouvert), pp. of ovrir (later ouvrir), to open. The etymology is disputed; Diez suggests that ovrir is a shortened form of O. F. a-ovrir, a-uvrir (Livre des Rois), answering to Prov. adubrir, to open. The latter can be resolved into L. ad, de, operire, where ad is a mere prefix, and de-operire is to uncover. Littré considers ovrir as put for avrir, i.e. L. aperire, to open. B. We may consider overt as due to confusion between operire and aperire, both difficult words, and prob. related. Perhaps a-perire = ab-perire*, to uncover, and operire = ob-perire*, to cover up, where -perire is allied to L. parare, to prepare, get ready.

The O. F. paon is the same word; cf. pediment, an ornament finishing the front of a building. (L.) Better pedament, as the only L. word like it is pedamentum, a stake or prop, with which vines are supported. The sense seems to be due to the allied word pedatura, a prop, also (in Low L.) a space, site; since a pediment does, in fact, enclose a space which was often ornamented with sculpture. The explanation is, probably, that the fowler, engaged in catching birds, hid himself in a bush, and peeped out, as represented in a MS. Cot. gives F. piper, 'to whistle, chirp like a bird, cousen, deceive, cheat, beguile; ' piple, 'the peeping or chirping of small birds, counterfeited by a bird-catcher, also a counterfeit shew;' pipe, 'a bird-call.' Cf. also Low L. polanus, a pulley or pulley-rope, also a kind of sledge. T Diez derives E. pulley from F. poulie, and then, conversely, F. poulie, from E. pull. The G. plumpen also means to plump, fall plump, move suddenly and violently, from the plunging action of the piston. It is therefore allied to E. Plump (2), and to Plumb, and is ultimately of Latin origin. v. We even find prov. E. plump, to pump, Corn. plumpy, to pump; cf. F. plomber, to sound with a plummet; and cf. Plunge. Pulcinello is the droll clown in Neapolitan comedy; we also find Ital. pulcinella, 'punch, buffoon,' Meadows. A dimin. form of Ital. pulcino, a young chicken; cf. pulcella, a young girl; from L. pullus, the young of any animal, allied to puer, a boy. See Pullet. The lit. sense of pulcinello is little chicken; thence, a little boy, a puppet. ¶ Confused with prov. E. punch, short, fat, which is allied to Bunch. Judy is for Judith, once a common name.

Puncheon (2), a cask. (F. - L.?) From O. F. poinson, 'a bodkin, also a puncheon [steel tool], also a stamp, mark, print, or seale; also, a wine-vessell; 'Cot. grave. - L. quietus, still.

decoy, to allure. (L.; and F.-L.) Coined by prefixing L. de, down, to O. F. coi, quiet, E. coy (above). I No doubt the verb to coy (older than de-coy) took a new sense by confusion with Du, kooi, a cage, called a coy in Norfolk, with the sense 'decoy' for birds; but M. E. coyen, to blandish, occurs in the Prompt. Parv., and Spenser uses accoy, F. Q. iv. 8. 50. As for the Du. kooi, O. Du. koye (Hexham), it appears to be from L. cauea, a cage; see cage, p. 73, l. 9.

I from its tapering shape, like that of the conical pin used in the game of kails or kayles (see Kails). — O. F. quille, 'a keyle, a big peg or pin of wood;' Cot. [A distinct word from F. quille, a keel.] — O. H. G. kegil, G. kegel, a nine-pin, skittle, cone, bobbin. (The sense of 'bobbin' accounts for the E. quill, a reed to wind yam on.)

Quill (2), to pleat a ruff. (F. -O. H. G.; or L.) Etym, doubtful; either (1) so called from being folded over quills or reeds; see Quill (1). Or (2) allied to the Guernsey word enquiller, to pleat (Métivier); derived by Métivier from O.F. cuillir, to gather, collect (L. colligere). This latter derivation is far from being convincing; the difference between quiller and cuillir is considerable, the conjugation being different. Surely enquiller must be related to F. quille (above).

Quilt, a bed-cover, &c. (F.-L.) M. E. quilte. — O. F. cuilte, a quilt (12th cent.), also spelt cotre, courre. — L. cuicita, cuicitra, a cushion, mattress, pillow, quilt; the latter

Thus named, by a popular etymology, from a fancied connection with O. F. contrepointer, to work the back-stitch (from contre = L. contra). But really connected with O. F. courrepointer, to quilt (also in Cotgrave). In fact, contrepoint, is a corruption of coutrepoint, contepoint, a counterpane, a stitched quilt (see Ducange). - L. culcita, a quilt; puncta, fem. of punctus, pp. of pungere, to prick.

The form of the word is such that it must be allied to L. quintana, a street in the camp, which separated the fifth maniple from the sixth; where was the market and business-place of the camp. Doubtless this public place was also the scene of martial exercises and trials of skill: the Low L. quintana means (1) a quintain, also (2) a part of a street (space) where carriages could pass. - L. quintanus, from quintus, fifth. TH.

Th. This is distinct from t, and should have a distinct symbol. Formerly, the A. S. b and & were used (but indiscriminately) to denote both the sounds now denoted by th. When b degenerated into a symbol closely resembling y, y was at last substituted for it; hence we find yo and yt used, by early printers, for the, that; it is needless (I hope) to remark that yo man was never pronounced as ye man in the middle ages.

I here use of for A.S. words, and of or th for M. E. words, beginning with the sound of th in that; and p for A.S. and M. E. words beginning with the sound of th in thin. Observe these facts. (1) Initial th is always pronounced as in thin except (a) in words allied to that; and (b) in words allied to thou. (2) In the middle of a word, it is pronounced as th in thin, except when e follows; compare breath with breathe; an exception is smooth. (3) No word beginning with the (except thurible, | &dra; DAT. &dm. + Du. de, the, dat, that; formed on a Greek base) is of Latin origin; some (easily known) are Greek; thummim is Hebrew; all the rest are English.

Than; see That. Thane; see Thee (2).

Thank; see Think.

That. (E.) M. E. that. A. S. &at, orig. neuter of a demonstrative pronoun, also used as neuter of the definite article. The corresponding masc. form is de, but this is rarely used, se being commonly used instead. We thus have A. S. masc. de, fem. ded, neut. det, from the Teut. pronominal base THA = Aryan TA, meaning 'he' or 'that.' The suffix -/ is merely the sign of the neut. gender, like Lat. -d in i-d, illu-d, istu-d, qui-d. B. The full declension is as follows. Sing. nom. de, ded, vat [usually replaced by se, seó, vat]; GEN. Jas, Jare, Jas; DAT. Jam, Jare, Jam; ACC. Tone, Tá, Tæt; INSTRUMENTAL (for all genders) by. Plural; nom. and acc. ba; gen. Icel. pat, the; Dan. den, neut. det, the; Swed. den, neut. det, this; G. der, die, das, thet, dass, that; Goth. thata, neut. of def. article. +Lith. tas, ta, that; Russ. tote, ta, to, that; Gk. 76, neut. of def. art.; Skt. tat, it, that; L. -te, -ta, -tud (in is-te, is-ta, is-tud).

than, conj. (E.) Frequently written then, and orig. the same word as then. M. E. thanne, thonne. A. S. δ one, acc. masc. of the def. art.; see That, \S β .+Du. dan;

G. dann, denn. Cf. L. tum.

the (1), def. art. (E.) M. E. the. A. S. Se, rarely used as nom. masc. of def. art., but common as an indeclinable relative;

see That, § β.

the (2), in what (or that) degree. (E.) Only in such phrases as 'the more, the merrier.' This is the instrumental case of the def. art. M. E. the: A. S. 5½; see That, § B.+Goth. the, Icel. bui, bi, inst. case of art. or dem. pronoun.

their, belonging to them. (Scand.) M. E. thair. - Icel. peirra, of them, used as gen. pl. of hann, he, but really the gen. pl. of the def. article, as shewn by A. S.

þára; see That, § β.

them, objective case of they. (Scand.) Really an old dat. case. — Icel. peim, dat. of peir, they; see they (below). +A. S. pám, dat. pl. of def. art.; see That, § \(\beta\).

then. (E.) Frequently written than in old books, and originally identical with it;

thence. (E.) M. E. thennes (dissyllabic); whence thens, by contraction, later written thence. The s is an adverbial suffix; earlier forms were thenne, thanne, in which a final n has been lost.—A. S. δ anan, thence; formed from base δ a- with the repeated suffix -na-na. The base δ a = Teut. base THA; see That. +G. dannen, thence; from base da-.

there (1), in that place. (E.) M. E. ther, thar. A. S. \(\delta x \) of r. The suffix -r seems to be due to a locative case of the Aryan suffix -ra, as in Skt. \(upa-ri, \text{ Gk.} \) \(\delta \tilde{t} \) of the base is Teut. base THA; see That. + Du. \(dar, \text{ Icel.} \) \(\delta x \), Tan. Swed. \(der, \text{ Goth. } thar, \text{ G. } da. \) Compare Here, Where.

there-, only as a prefix. (E.) In thereby, there-in, there-of, &c. Here thereanswers to A. S. &are, dat. fem. of def, art; hence there-fore = A. S. fore &are, i.e. because of the thing or reason, where some ment; and see Tight.

fem. sb. is understood. Hence the word compounded with there- is always a preposition; as, for instance, -after, -at, -by, -from, -in, -of, -on, -to, -unto, -upon, -with. these. (E.) Orig. the same word as those, of which it was, at first, only a dialectal variant. See those (below).

they. (Scand.) Chiefly in the Northern dialect; M. E. thai (gen. thair, dat. and acc. thaim, tham). This usage is Scand., not E., as in A. S. these words are only used as pl. of def. art.—Icel. peir, nom. pl., they; peirra, gen. pl., their; peim, dat. pl., them. So also Dan. Swed. de, they, dem, them; Dan. deres, Swed. deras, their, theirs.+A. S. pd, nom. pl. of def.

art.; gen. þára; dat. þám; see That, § β.

this. (E.) M. E. this, thes; pl. these, thuse, those, &c., the forms these and those being both used as plurals of this; the plural of that being tho. Gradually these became the settled pl. of this, whilst those supplanted tho as pl. of that. -A. S. δe_s , δe_s , δis , this; pl. δdes (= these), δds (= those), either form being used. [M. E. tho answers to A. S. δd , pl. of def. art.; see That, $\delta \beta$.] β . This (A. S. δe_s) is an emphatic form, due to joining the pronom. bases THA and SA. + Du. deze, Icel. pessi, G. dieser.

thither. (E.) M. E. thider. A. S. Sider. + Icel. paöra; Goth. thathro; cf. Skt. tatra, there, thither. Formed from Teut. base THA (Aryan TA) with a suffix which is supposed to be the instrumental case of a comparative in -ta-ra.

those. (E.) Originally a mere variant

though. (E.) M. E. thogh. A. S. Sedh, Séh.+Du. doch, yet, but; Icel. ½, Dan. dog, Swed. dock, G. doch, Goth. thauh. All from Teut. base THA, that, with suffix-UH, used in Gothic as a demonstrative suffix (like L. -ce in hic-ce). The sense is 'with respect to that in particular.'

thus. (E.) M. E. thus. A. S. &us; prob. the same as &y's, instrumental case of &es, this; see this (above). +O. Fries.

and O. Sax. thus; Du. dus.

Thatch, sb. (E.) M. E. þak. A. S. þæc, thatch; whence peccan, to thatch. + Du. dak, sb., whence dekken, verb (whence E. deck is borrowed); Icel. þak, sb., Dan. tag, Swed. tak, G. dach. + Gk. τέγος, στέγος, a roof, Irish teagh, Gael. teach, tigh, W. ty, a house. The only difficulty is to explain the final -m; this is due to the fact that whelm, verb, is really formed from a sb. whelm, standing for hwelf-m, the f being dropped because unpronounceable. This appears from O. Swed. hwalma, to cock hay, derived from the sb. hwalm, a hay-cock; where hwalm is for hwalfm *, being derived from O. Swed. hwalf, an arch, vault, hwälfwa, to arch over (make into a rounded shape). Thus the suffix -m is substantival (as in doo-m, bloo-m, &c.), and the Teut. base is HWALB, to become convex (M. H. G. welben, pt. t. walb), the derivatives of which appear in A.S. hwealf, adj., convex, sb., a vault, Icel. hválf, hólf, a vault, hválfa, hólfa, to 'whelve' or turn upside down, G. wölben, to arch over. y. We thus trace the following forms, viz. base HWALB, to swell out, become convex; Icel. hvelfa, to vault, turn a round vessel upside down; hence whelm, sb., a thing made convex, whelm, vb., to make convex, turn a round vessel over, capsize. Forbyremarks that whelm, in the E. Anglian dialect, signifies 'to turn a tub or other vessel upside down, whether to cover anything with it or not.' Der. over-whelm.

Whelp, a puppy. (E.) A.S. hwelp, sb.

+ Du. welp, Icel. hvelpr, Dan. hvalp, formerly, from A. S. hvvllum, dat. pl. of Swed. valp, M. H. G. welf. Root un- hvvll, a time. Also mean-rvhile, see known.

one who goes first in a procession. Whig. (E.?) See Todd's Johnson and Nares. Whig is a shortened form of whiggamor, applied to certain Scotchmen who came from the west to buy corn at Leith; from the word whiggam, employed by these men in driving their horses. march to Edinburgh made by Argyle was called 'the whiggamor's inroad,' and afterwards those who were opposed to the court came to be called whigs. (Burnet, Own Times, b. i.) The Glossary to Sir W. Scott's novels has: 'whigamore, a great whig; whigging, jogging rudely, urging forward.' To whig awa' is to jog on forward.' To whig awa' is to jog on briskly. I suppose that the h is intrusive, and that these words are allied to Lowl. Sc. wiggle, to move about, and to A.S. weegan, to move, agitate, move along. See Weigh.

While, a time. (E.) A. S. hwill, sb., a pause, a time. + Icel. hvila, a place of rest; Dan. hvile, rest; Swed. hvila, rest; G. weile, Goth. hweila. a time. Prob. allied to L. qui-es, rest. (KI.) Mean (3); also whiling-time, the waiting a little time before dinner (Spectator, no. 448), whence the phrase to while away time, probably with some thought of confusion with wile.

Whip, to move quickly, to flog. (E.) M. E. whippen, to overlay a cord by rapidly binding the twine round it, whippe, a scourge. From the sense of rapid movement. + Du. wippen, to skip, formerly to shake; Low G. wippen, to bob up and down; Dan vippe, to see-saw, bob; Swed. vippa, to wag, jerk; G. wippen, to move up and down, see-saw, jerk. (I find no very early authority for the h.) Der. whip, sb.

Whisk, to move or sweep quickly. (Scand.) The h is intrusive. It is properly wisk, orig. to wipe, brush, sweep, esp. with a quick motion, as when using a light brush; the h was due to confusion with whiz, whir, whirl, &c. - Dan. viske, to wipe, rub, sponge, from visk, a wisp, rubber; Swed. viska, to wipe, also to wag (or whisk) the tail, from viska, 'a whisk, a small broom,' Widegren; Icel. visk, a wisp of hay, something to wipe with, a rubber. + G. wischen, 'to wipe, wisk, rub,' Flügel; from the sb. wisch, 'a whisk. clout,' id. B. The sb. which thus appears as Icel. visk, Swed. viska, G. wisch, meant orig. 'a washer;' from the Teut. base WASK, to wash; see Wash. Der. whisk-er, from the likeness to a small brush. 'Nestor brush'd her with his whiskers;' Dryden, Troilus, iv. 2. Also whisk-y, a light gig, easily whisked along.

whit-sunday. (E.) Lit. white Sunday, as is perfectly certain from the A. S. name hwita sunnan-dæg, Icel. hvitasunnudagr, Norwegian kvittsunndag; these are facts, though constantly denied by the lovers of paradoxical and far-fetched etymologies. The difficulty lies only in the reason for the name. 'The great festivals, Yule, Easter, and Pentecost, but esp, the two latter, were the great seasons for christening; in the Roman Catholic church, especially Easter, whence in Roman usage the Sunday after Easter was called Dominica in Albis; but in the Northern churches, perhaps owing to the cold weather at Easter-time, Pentecost . . seems to have been esp. appointed for christening and for ordination; hence the following week was called the Holy Week, Icel. Helga Vika;' Icel. Dict. The case is parallel to that of noon, which at first meant 9th hour, or 3 P.M., but was afterwards shifted. So also in other cases. Der. Wittol, a cuckold. (E.) Formerly supposed to mean 'wit-all;' also thought to represent A.S. witol, knowing, wise, from witan, to know. Ital. godano by 'the bird called a witwal or woodwall; and in a later edition, 'a wittal or woodwale.' If this be so, we may be sure that allusions were made to the woodwale similar to those endless allusions to the cuckoo which produced the word cuckold. See Woodwale.

The most likely solution is that it meant 'a time of revelry,' being connected with M. E. youlen, yollen, to cry out or yawl; see Yawl. We actually find A. S. gylan, to make merry, keep festival (Grein); also G. jolen, johlen, jodeln, to sing in a high-pitched voice, Du. joelen, to revel. The attempt to connect this word with wheel is perfectly

CORRECTIONS AND NOTES.

[Some of the etymologies given in the preceding pages will require modification when the history of the words treated of becomes more accurately known. I add here such corrections and improvements as have hitherto occurred to me.—W.W. S.]

Angel. The A.S. form is engel, from Latin. Afterwards altered by F. and L. influence.

Anneal. Perhaps the A.S. words should be on álan and álan, with long a. Yet see Fick, i. 100.

Backgammon. Strutt suggests that, after all, this word merely means 'backgame,' because the pieces taken off are put back to the starting-point. This seems the best solution, and makes the word E.—A.S. back, back; gamen, game. Cf. Du. verkeeren, to pervert; also to play at ticktack (a kind of backgammon); Sewel.

Bamboo. Canarese banbu, bamboo. Bedlam. Bethlehem means 'house of bread.' -- Heb. beth, house; lekhem, bread (kh = G, ch).

Bid (2). Bid, to command, has entirely taken the place of bid (1), to pray, from which it has borrowed all its forms. Hence, strictly, this bid (2) is actually derived from A.S. biddan, to pray, though it preserves the sense of A.S. biddan. See Bid (1).

Bizarre. The Basque bizar means a beard; hence the Span. bizarro, valiant, may have been derived, by the idiom which makes the Span. hombre de bigote mean a man of spirit; for bigote means a mou-

Boast. M. E. bost, boost, means (1) noise, (2) pride, boast. Cf. Swed. pust, a puff of wind. Prob. E.; from a root PUS, to blow. Cf. Lithuan. pus-ti, to blow.

Bode, s. v. Bid (2), p. 38. Add: bod, sb., is from bod-en, pp. of beddan, to bid; so also Icel. bod, sb., is from bod-inn, pp. of Icel. bjoda, to bid.

Bolt, s. v. Bulge, p. 55. The A. S. bolt also occurs in the sense of cross-bow bolt.

Boon. When boon is used as a sb., as in 'a great boon,' it answers to F. bon, sb. - L. bonum, sb., orig. neut. of bonus, adj., good.

Boult, to sift meal. Explained under Bolt (2), p. 44, col. 2.

Bowline. See Bow (4), under Bough,

P. 47.

Bungalow. The Bengalee word is bangla, a thatched cottage; from Banga, Bengal.

Calm. Cf. Prov. calma, heat; Low Lat. cauma, heat, Job xxx. 30 (Vulgate).

Camlet. The Arab. khamlat is in no way allied to camel, but is from Arab. khaml, pile, plush, a carpet with a long pile, a cushion on a saddle. The confusion arose from the fact that camel's hair was sometimes used for making camlet.

Cant (1). Probably borrowed, like many other cant words, from the Netherlands. Walloon canter, to sing. - L. cantare. Cf. re-cant.

Cark. The W. carc, anxiety, was borrowed from M. E. kark. The Anglo-F. kark is the F. charge, and meant a burden, weight, cargo. So also Anglo-F. sorkarker, to overload, lit. surcharge; deskarker, to unload, discharge. 'A karke of peper,' a load of pepper.

Chapel (p. 66). Others say that capella meant a canopy, a recess in a chapel for an altar (Diefenbach).

Check. Really (F.-Arab.-Pers.). O. F. eschec, eschac; a form due to the Arab. pronunciation (almost as shág) of the Pers. sháh.

Chill. West Saxon ciele, cyle; oldest form celi. From the strong verb appearing in Icel. kala, to freeze, pt. t. kól. pp. kalinn. Cool is from the pt. t. of the same verb.

Clot. We also find A.S. clot, a mass, clot; in the dat. pl. clottum.

Clove (1). M.E. cloue, as well as clow. Prob. the u was misread as meaning v.

Coddle. Coddle = castrate, Beaum. and Fletcher, Philaster, v. 4. 31. But caddle = 0. F. cadeler, to pamper. = 0. F. cadel, a coddled child. = L. acc. catellum, a whelp; dimin. of catulus, a whelp. = L. catus, a cat. See Cat.

Consent. See under Sense, p. 424, col. 2. Cool. See note upon Chill (above).

Cowl (1). It is probable that A. S. cufe and Icel kuff are mere borrowings (through the British) from L. cucullus, a cowl. Cf. Irish cochal, a cowl.

Cricket (2), p. 101, col. 2. Otherwise, named from cricket, a small stool, used in playing stool-ball (a game). Orig. a small crutch or perch; see crutch, p. 102, l. 15.

(It makes little difference).

Cross, s.v. Crook, p. 101. The M.E. crois and M.E. cros are distinct words; crois (from O.F. crois) is obsolete; but cros, still in use, is Provençal. It occurs in Gaimar's Chronicle, l. 2833 (A.D. 1150), and perhaps earlier.

Cruet. Anglo-F. cruet, dimin. of O. F. cruye, a pitcher of stone-ware. - Du. kruik, a crock; see Crock.

Crusade, s. v. Crook, p. 102. Perhaps borrowed immediately from Provençal.

Distribute. See under Tribe, p. 523, col. I.

sense a drop, something let fall.

Duty, p. 190, col. 2. Anglo-F. duete, debt, obligation; Liber Albus, p. 211.

Entertain. See under Tenable, p. 496, col. 2.

Fledge. The M. E. flegge, also fligge, comes nearer to A. S. flycge, ready to fly, if this be a true A. S. word.

Foam. The A.S. fám answers rather to M.H.G. feim, Russ. piena, Skt. phena, to M.H.G. feim, Russ. piena, Skt. phena, foam.

Frampold. Add: the suffix -fol is from W. fol, foolish.

Furze. The comparison with Gael.

Furze. The comparison with Gael. preas is doubtful.

Gang (2), to go. See under Go, p. 179. Glitter. Read: M.E. gliteren, to shine; frequent. of A.S. glitian, to shine. +Icel. glitra, &c.

horse; Du. ham, the ham.

Howl. Add: so also Du. huilen, Icel. ýla, Dan. hyle, Swed. yla, to howl.

Ingrate. See under Grace, p. 182, col. 1.

Invincible. See under Victor, p. 544, col. 2.

Iron-mould; see mould (3), s. v. Mole (1), p. 290.

Jeer. Cf. G. scheren, 'to shear, fleece, poll, lop, cheat, plague, tease;' Flügel.

Jenneting. (F. = L. = Gk. = Heb.) Prob. for jeanneton; a dimin. from F. pomme de S. Jean, an early apple, called in Italian melo de San Giovanni, i. e. St. John's apple. So called because, in France and Italy, it ripened about June 24, St. John's day. So also, there is an early pear, called Amiré Joannet or Jeanette, or petit St. Jean; G. Johannisbirn. F. Jean = Lat. acc. Iohannem, from Gk. 'Iwávnys, John. = Heb. Yöhánán, the grace of the Lord.

Knave. This may be E.; both A.S. cn-apa and A.S. cn-yht (knight) may be allied to A.S. cyn, kin.

Law, p. 248, col. 1. The history and use of the word shew that it is rather Scand. than E.

Loak. Cf. 'bæt hlece scip,' the leaky ship (Ælfred).

Lewd. Note the great change in sense. Linnet. Perhaps directly from L.; we find A. S. linet-wige, a linnet (whence Lowl. Sc. lintwhite); lit. 'flax-hopper.' From L. linum, flax; the portion wige, hopper, being dropped.

Lissom. See under Lithe, p. 253,

col. 2.

Rock (1). We actually find A. S. stánrocca, gen. pl., to translate L. scopulorum. This may have been borrowed from Celtic. At any rate, it is strong evidence against a Latin origin.

Latin origin.
She. The A. S. seb, Icel. sjd, answers to Skt. syd, fem. of syas, that. Prob. from Aryan SA, he; YA, that.

Slender. Really (F. - O.Du.). O. F. esclendre (Palsgrave). - O.Du. slinder.

Trunk (2), of an elephant. Corrupted from F. trompe, 'a trump; also, the snowt of an elephant;' Cotgrave.

II. SUFFIXES.

THE number of suffixes in modern English is so great, and the forms of several, especially in words derived through the French from Latin, are so variable, that an attempt to exhibit them all would tend to confusion. The best account of their origin is to be found in Schleicher, Compendium der Vergleichenden Grammatik der Indogermanischen Sprachen. An account of Anglo-Saxon suffixes is given at p. 119 of March, Comparative Grammar of the Anglo-Saxon Language. Lists of Anglo-Saxon words, arranged according to their suffixes, are given in Loth, Etymologische Angelsechsischenglische Grammatik, Elberfeld, 1870. The best simple account of English suffixes in general is that given in Morris, Historical Outlines of English Accidence, pp. 212-221, 229-242; to which the reader is particularly referred. See also Koch, Historische Grammatik der Englischen Sprache, vol. iii. pt. 1, pp. 29-76. Schleicher has clearly established the fact that the Aryan languages abound in suffixes, each of which was originally intended slightly to modify the meaning of the root to which it was added, so as to express the radical idea in a new relation. The force of many of these must, even at an early period, have been slight, and in many instances it is difficult to trace it; but in some instances it is still clear, and the form of the suffix is then of great service. The difference between lov-er, lov-ed, and lov-ing is well marked, and readily understood. One of the most remarkable points is that most Aryan languages delighted in adding suffix to suffix, so that words are not uncommon in which two or more suffixes occur, each repeating, it may be, the sense of that which preceded it. Double diminutives, such as parti-c-le, i.e. a little little part, are sufficiently common. The Lat. superl. suffix -is-si-mus (Aryan -yans-ta-ma) is a simple example of the use of a treble suffix, which really expresses no more than is expressed by -mus alone in the word pri-mus. The principal Aryan suffixes, as given by Schleicher, are these: -a, -i, -u, -ya, -wa¹, -ma, -ra (later form -la), -an, -ana, -na, -ni, -nu, -ta, -tar or -tra, -ti, -tu, -dhi, -ant or -nt, -as, -ka. But these can be readily compounded, so as to form new suffixes; so that from -ma-na was formed -man (as in E. no-min-al), and from -ma-na-ta or -man-ta was formed -manta (as in E. argu-ment). Besides these, we must notice the comparative suffix -yans, occurring in various degraded shapes: hence the Gk. μείζον-, greater, put for μέγ-γον, the s being dropped. This suffix usually occurs in combination, as in -yans-ta, Gk. -1070-, superl. suffix; -yans-ta-ma, Lat. is-si-mus (for -is-ti-mus*), already noted. The combinations -ta-ra, -ta-ta occur in the Gk. -τερο-, -τατο-, the usual suffixes of the comparative and superlative degrees.

One common error with regard to suffixes should be guarded against, namely, that of mis-dividing a word so as to give the suffix a false shape. This is extremely common in such words as logi-c, civi-c, belli-c-ose, where the suffix is commonly spoken of as being -ic or -ic-ose. This error occurs, for instance, in the elaborate book on English Affixes by S. S. Haldemann, published at Philadelphia in 1865; a work which is of considerable use as containing a very full account, with numerous examples, of suffixes and prefixes. But the author does not seem to have understood the matter rightly, and indulges in some of the most extraordinary freaks, actually deriving musk from Welsh mus (from mw, that is forward, and ws, that is impulsive), that starts out, an effluvium; 'p. 74. The truth is that civi-c (Lat. civicus) is derived from Lat. ciui-, crude form of ciuis, a citizen, with the suffix -cus (Aryan -KA); and logi-c is from Gk. λογικός, from λογι-, put for λόγο-, crude form of λόγος, a discourse, with the suffix -κος (Aryan -KA) as before. Compare Lat. ciui-tas, Gk. λογο-μαχία. Belli-c-ose, Lat. bellicosus, is from Lat. belli-, put for bello-, crude form of bellum, war, with suffix -c-osus

(Aryan ·ka-wan-ta, altered to -ka-wan-sa; Schleicher, § 218). Of course, words in ·i-c are so numerous that ·ic has come to be regarded as a suffix at the present day, so that we do not hesitate to form Volta-ic as an adjective of Volta; but this is English misuse, not Latin etymology. Moreover, since both ·i- and ·ka are Aryan suffixes, such a suffix as ·1-kos, ·i-cus, is possible both in Greek and Latin; but it does not occur in the particular words above cited, and we must therefore be careful to distinguish between a suffixed vowel and an essential part of a stem, if we desire to understand the matter clearly.

One more word of warning may perhaps suffice. If we wish to understand a suffix, we must employ comparative philology, and not consider English as an absolutely isolated language, with laws diffe:ent from those of other languages of the Aryan family. Thus the 'th in tru-th is the 'N of A.S. treow-N, gen. case treow-Ne, fem. sb. This suffix answers to that seen in Goth. gabaur-ths, birth, gen. case gabaur-thais, fem. sb, belonging to the -i-stem declension of Gothic strong substantives. The true suffix is therefore to be expressed as Goth -thi, cognate with Aryan -ti, so extremely common in Latin; cf. do-ti-, dowry, men-ti-, mind, mor-ti-, death, mes-si- (= met-ti-), harvest, that which is mown. Hence, when Horne Tooke gave his famous etymology of truth as being 'that which a man troweth,' he did in reality suggest that the -ti- in Lat. mor-ti- is identical with the -t in mori-t-ur or in ama-t; in other words, it was a mere whim.

III. LIST OF ARYAN ROOTS.

THE following is a brief list of the forms of the Aryan roots which appear in English. By an Aryan root is meant a short monosyllabic base which occurs in more than one, and frequently in several, of the Aryan languages. These languages are usually divided into seven groups, viz. Indian, Persian, Celtic, Græco-Latin, Teutonic, Slavonic, and Lettic (to which belongs Lithuanian). As far as English is concerned, the most important languages belonging to these groups are (1) Sanskrit, belonging to the Indian group; (2) Greek; (3) Latin; and (4) Anglo-Saxon, Icelandic, and Old High German, all belonging to the Teutonic group. Old Slavonic and Lithuanian are also often very helpful in explaining the forms and significations of the roots. An example of a Teutonic base is BAR, to bear, appearing in A.S. bar, pt. t. of beran, to bear, and in the Gothic bar, pt. t. of bairan, to bear. Now a comparison of this base with the forms occurring in Skt. bhar, Gk. φέρ-ειν, Lat. fer-re, to bear (which three can all be reduced to a common original of the form BHAR), shews us that the base which in the Teutonic languages appears as BAR is found in what may be called the 'classical' languages in the form BHAR; the only difference being in the initial letter. Further comparison between the Teutonic and classical languages shews that several hundred roots exist in which the same phenomenon occurs, and hence Grimm was enabled to demonstrate that the forms of the roots vary in different Aryan languages according to a regular law, now usually known as 'Grimm's law.' It is sufficient to state here that, if Gothic, Anglo-Saxon, and Icelandic spellings be adopted as the basis of 'English' or 'Teutonic' roots, and Sanskrit spellings be adopted as the basis of 'classical' roots, then the following changes occur initially.

English. g k(c) h d t th b p f Sanskrit. gh g k dh d t bh . p

In the lower line a blank will be observed below E. p. It is usually said that E. p answers to Skt. b, but there is no proof of this; and my own impression is that it answers (abnormally) to Skt. p, which in some cases did not turn into E. f, as the regular law requires.

The following list of roots is a bare enumeration of them, with an account of the double forms. Such as are printed in thick type, as AK, are 'classical' or primitive Aryan forms; such as are printed in other capitals, as AH, are 'English' or primitive Teutonic forms. It must further be observed that similar sound-shiftings occur when the letters are final as well as initial; but the case of the initial letters was mentioned first, as being the easiest to follow. It may also be noted here that a primitive R frequently passes into L, even at an early period; of this, a considerable number of examples might readily be adduced. For a much fuller account of these roots, with illustrative examples, the student is referred to my larger Etymological Dictionary.

The roots are arranged according to the alphabetical order of the Sanskrit alphabet, by help of which we obtain an Aryan alphabet, as tollows: a, i, u, ai, au; k, g, gh; t, d, dh, n; p, b, bh, m; y, r, l, w; s. If this arrangement causes any trouble in finding a root, the reader has only to consult the index appended to the list,

VI. DISTRIBUTION OF WORDS ACCORDING TO THE LANGUAGES FROM WHICH THEY ARE DERIVED.

THE Dictionary shews from what language each word is derived, as far as its etymology is at present ascertained. The largest classes of words are the following.

1. Words of purely ENGLISH origin, most of which are found in Anglo-Saxon, or are words of imitative origin.

2. Words of SCANDINAVIAN or OLD DANISH origin, due to the frequent incursions of the Danes, many of whom permanently settled in England. Their speech was closely allied to the oldest English as represented by Anglo-Saxon.

3. Words of CELTIC origin, due to the ancient Britons. The English frequently took to themselves British wives, which led to their adoption of several Celtic words. These are, however, less numerous than we might perhaps at first expect them to be.

4. Words of LATIN origin; borrowed (1) from Latin directly; (2) through the medium of French. Both these classes of words are very large. Here also may be included words of Low Latin origin, i.e. borrowed from the debased or rustic Latin, which employed words not to be found in the best classical authors.

5. Words of GREEK origin; borrowed (1) from Greek directly; (2) through the medium of Latin; (3) through the medium of Latin, and afterwards of French; (4) through the medium of French (the word not being used in Latin).

6. HYBRID WORDS, made up from two different languages. Such a word is bankrupt, bank being of Teutonic, but -rupt of Latin origin. Words of this character arther numerous, but their component parts are, in most cases, easily accounted for.

Words strictly belonging to the above classes are numerous, and will not be further noticed here. But there are also other smaller classes of words which are here brought particularly under the reader's notice.

Before proceeding to enumerate these, a few remarks upon some of the classes already mentioned may be useful.

1. ENGLISH. Amongst these we must include:

Place-names: canter, carronade, dunce, borrowed. galloway. Personal name: kit-cat. French

Also two words that seem to have been originally English, and to have been re-
